

And the alarm bell is ringing ... it sure is ringing Sam ... and quick as a flash ... it is Sale Time!!!

Quick Sam get your money before it's too late and Readers see the next part and find out the truth about how you operate!

And then they decide that the safest way for a Buyer to deal with you is using Escrow ... where they have Buyer protection against software if it doesn't work as Advertised. But of course you always blame the user ... it is never your software that is at fault ... we all know the rigorous personal testing - research and development that you do ... oh wait ... that's right you always say you are a coder NOT a tester.

But you won't use Escrow will you Sam - you prefer to take the money ... then say you will refund it and then never do it ... you have done it once and you will do it over and over and over again ...

Sam, you certainly change your story to suit whatever it is you do ...
Now that you have taken me off the "Ignore" list I am able to respond ...

but I guess this post won't last long as you will find some way to get rid of it ...

So let's work on the three strikes rule ... three strikes and you are out ... gone ... finished!

With the indisputable facts in place ... note the date readers 13th December 2017 he said he would refund

Sam continually denies this

No money back sorry !

and then finally edits his post in face of the truth and admits and yes i have promised that i will refund you clearly a lie from Sam ... STRIKE 1

And I see you now claim to be using my ordered “Modified Coral Code” in your TRM Auto Trade to prove to everyone here that it works and I am not being truthful in saying you did not deliver what was ordered ...

Sam claims the Code he sent me is correct (even though it was not what was ordered) and is the same PIN used in your TRM Auto Trade ... hmmm ...

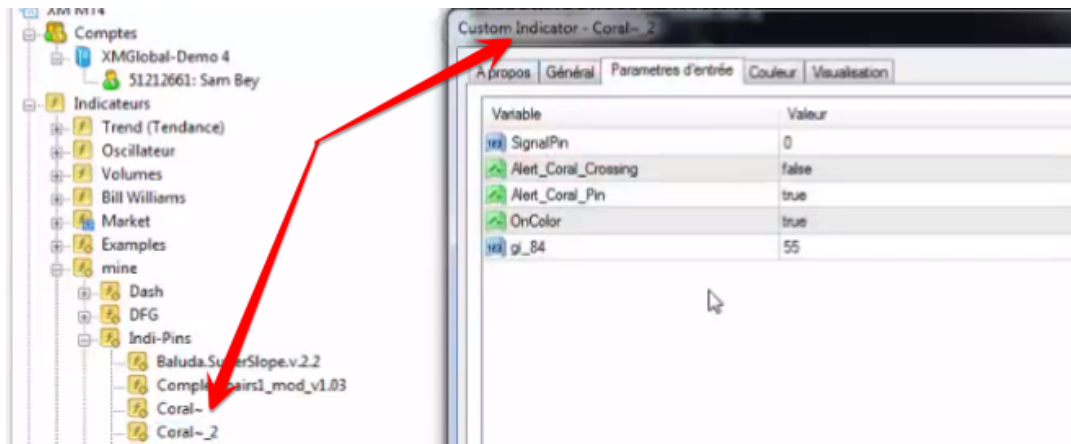

This is the date and PIN name Sam sent me “EAX_PIN_Coral-dash_Live_v1.02” with an expiry date 01/01/18 and is dated 13th December 2017

A quote from your post where Sam claims the PINs are the same:

see this video it show clearely that the pin

The file in the video called TRM Auto Trade shown on YouTube has the filename “Coral~”see below screenshot ... check for yourself readers ... (Sam ... when you are trying to do whatever it is you do ... the truth always comes down to the detail) ... Sam lies yet again ...

STRIKE 2

I am sure Sam, you will come up with yet another story to try to cover up all this ... or try some misdirection (like ... look at my new pin Free for all and you can use it on live) same old blah, blah, blah or he will “dislike” this post and try to hide it from everyone.

And now, the Trade Report that Sam claims I sent him to show how wonderful his “Modified Coral Code” PIN performed ... look at the date on the bottom of the Trade Report readers ...

Trade Report Date

StartDate	2017.11.28 10:00
EndDate	2017.11.29 00:00

Actually this was an overnight test on one of Sam’s old Coral PINs and he know it.

And look at the date he actually sent me the PIN he claims is what I ordered, the one he claims is in his TRM Auto Trade ...

Nice try Sam, but a BIG discrepancy in the dates ... again the truth is in the detail & the readers can decide!

And that's lie #3 STRIKE 3

All indisputable facts ... and that means you are out of the game Sam, baseball 3 strikes, cricket hat-trick, Chess 3 move checkmate, Boxing a 1,2,3 combination ... whatever you or anyone else choose to call it ... YOU are OUT Sam!

And here is an extra one just for good luck. Sam claims that there is no holy grail and yet here he is claiming he has the "holy grail" ... and you will never get it ... it's the sort of thing a 5 or 6 year old child says in the playground ...

Anyway, enough said ... there is a lot more but seriously I can no longer be bothered ... I always said I would expose Sam if he did not refund as promised and that is done ... let the indisputable facts speak for themselves and the readers make up their own minds ...

Oh ... one last thing ... about Sam's ALARM sale ... the safest way to buy or rent software and pay for it is via Escrow, (you can Google it) ...

the Buyer puts the money in Escrow and only after the buyer is satisfied that the software performs "As Advertised" are the funds released to the Seller.

The Buyer is happy because they have software that they test and make sure performs as Advertised.

And the Seller is happy because he/she has a sale and of course has confidence in the software and knows it will perform as Advertised.

TRM Auto Trade is a perfect example - Sam claims it makes/saves money (whether it be $1 or $500 it does not matter) - he claims it works and shows us how in his YouTube video (not sure why the test period was 2016 ... hardly current market conditions, and he doesn't show the quality of the test done either ... like a proper test 99%+ ... but anyway he claims it works just like his other software and we all know that is always bug free.

Using Escrow the Buyer is protected ... if the Seller won't accept Escrow, then he/she shows little or no confidence in the Advertisement and that really should set-off the ALARM BELL for the Buyer!

Some sellers may say that this is not fair because the buyer can take the software and use it - true, but the Buyer still has their funds locked away in Escrow and can't access the money ... so what is the sense in that ... ABSOLUTELY NONE!

It is all about trust, the buyer trusts the seller to provide what they Advertise and the seller trusts the buyer to pay for their purchase.

OR is the reason certain Sellers don't do it this way because ...

“liars and scammers always think everyone else is a liar and a scammer ...”

If Sam won't do Escrow then maybe that is a BIG SIGNAL to look elsewhere, there are plenty of reputable coders on Forex Factory where you don't need escrow as protection, they are truthful and deliver exactly what they say they will ... and they even put it all in writing with an NDA :)

And remember that if you buy any of Sam's PZ Pins, (he charges up to $480 a year, each and every year for them) you also need the Indicator from PZ and that is $299 all up, no more to pay. That required is verified on the PZ site as seen below “you can read from the indicator”.

Incredulous how Sam can charge up to $480 a year and PZ only charge $299 one time and remember Sam's Pin is useless without the PZ Indicator.

One of a few things may now happen to this post now ...

1. Sam will leave it alone (?)
2. Sam will hide it (possible)
3. Sam will refer to “Scammers Handbook 101” and now become personally abusive or start abusive language as a distraction just like he did in his final emails or even in his recent post you are mad Brother ! go to the Psy right a way
4. Sam will get so swept up in his emotions with his next response ... his thoughts will be all over the place, no structure, no organisation, no indisputable facts and will take several edits to get it right if he ever does ... similar to the way he codes I guess, he calls it bugs, it really means poor discipline, poor self control and poor coding and remember you, the Buyer are paying for all this and wasting your time finding his code bugs for free while he takes your money.

You see that is normally what happens when Sam cannot have a mature debate based on indisputable facts ...

Anyway in my opinion this post and that means you are out of the game Sam, baseball 3 strikes, cricket hatrick, Chess checkmate, Boxing 1,2,3 combination ... whatever you or anyone else choose to call it ... YOU are OUT Sam!

And by the way Sam you can put me back on the “ignore” list and blah, blah, blah away until your last breath, I won't be reading anything on here, I have done what I said I would do back in December 2017 when you scammed me!

All the best readers :)
